

Accessing MAT

Prairie Ridge provides access to medication-assisted treatment for addiction to alcohol and opioids, such as heroin or prescription pain killers.

We offer Suboxone, naltrexone, Vivitrol, acamprosate, and Antabuse.

With support from an internist, we are able to provide medical support for individuals in need of assistance with outpatient/ambulatory detox.

Patients in need of medical detox are given a referral to our local hospital.

What is MAT?

Medication-assisted treatment (MAT) is a combination of medications to treat addiction along with counseling and behavioral therapies. Our providers will help you decide which combination of treatments is best for you.

MAT Effectiveness

- Lower risk of relapse
- Improve well being
- Increase ability to gain and maintain employment
- Improve birth outcomes among women who have substance use disorders and are pregnant
- Decrease risk of getting HIV or hepatitis C

About Suboxone

Suboxone is the brand name for buprenorphine, a medication approved by the FDA to treat Opioid Use Disorder.

When taken as prescribed, Suboxone is safe and effective.

- Diminishes the effects of physical dependency to opioids
- Increases safety in case of overdose
- Lowers the potential for misuse.

About Naltrexone

Naltrexone is a medication approved by the FDA to treat both Opioid Use Disorder and Alcohol Use Disorder.

It is not an opioid, is not addictive, and does not cause withdrawal symptoms.

Vivitrol is an extended-release injectable version of naltrexone.

Vivitrol and naltrexone block receptors and reduce cravings.

About Antabuse

Antabuse is the brand name for disulfiram, a medication approved by the FDA to treat Alcohol Use Disorder.

Acts as a deterrent to drinking by producing significant physical reactions when taken in combination with alcohol.

About Acamprosate

Acamprosate is FDA approved to treat Alcohol Use Disorder. It reduces the physical and emotional distress connected to cravings after alcohol use has ended.

We accept all major insurance plans.

Sliding scale fees available.

No one is denied services due to inability to pay.
